BPL Archivist Jim Baggett Wins 2019 Eminent Librarian Award at Alabama Library Association Conference

Longtime Birmingham Public Library Archivist Jim Baggett received the 2019 Eminent Librarian Award during the Alabama Library Association annual conference in Point Clear, Alabama, on April 4.

BPL Kicks Off 2019 National Library Week April 7

The City of Birmingham is showing its appreciation for the valuable services employees of the Birmingham Public Library's 19 locations provide next week.

To show appreciation for our patrons, the Jefferson County Library Cooperative is offering a coupon for $5 off your library fines. Good April 7-13.

Avondale Progressive Taste & Trivia

One goal of our “traveling” trivia contest is to challenge our players to learn about interesting parts of Birmingham’s history. Most of the questions asked during the event will be general knowledge; some of these will have a Birmingham/Alabama twist. (Remember, this is Alabama’s bicentennial year.) If you need to brush up on your local history to prepare for the contest, head over to Clues to the Questions on the BPL blog and read some interesting facts about the Avondale district. Good luck!

To sign up your team go to AvondaleTasteandTrivia.eventbrite.com.

N.C. Poet Impressed with Bards & Brews after March Visit to BPL

Anna Weaver, a Raleigh, N.C., poet who drove 10 hours to participate in the March Bards & Brews, shared her experience in a blog article written last month documenting her trek to visit open mic poetry events in all 50 states. Alabama was the 30th state in her journey that began in 2012.

BPL Archivist Jim Baggett Wins 2019 Eminent Librarian Award at Alabama Library Association Conference

Longtime Birmingham Public Library Archivist Jim Baggett received the 2019 Eminent Librarian Award during the Alabama Library Association annual conference in Point Clear, Alabama, on April 4.

BPL Kicks Off 2019 National Library Week April 7

The City of Birmingham is showing its appreciation for the valuable services employees of the Birmingham Public Library's 19 locations provide next week.

To show appreciation for our patrons, the Jefferson County Library Cooperative is offering a coupon for $5 off your library fines. Good April 7-13.

Avondale Progressive Taste & Trivia

One goal of our “traveling” trivia contest is to challenge our players to learn about interesting parts of Birmingham’s history. Most of the questions asked during the event will be general knowledge; some of these will have a Birmingham/Alabama twist. (Remember, this is Alabama’s bicentennial year.) If you need to brush up on your local history to prepare for the contest, head over to Clues to the Questions on the BPL blog and read some interesting facts about the Avondale district. Good luck!

To sign up your team go to AvondaleTasteandTrivia.eventbrite.com.

N.C. Poet Impressed with Bards & Brews after March Visit to BPL

Anna Weaver, a Raleigh, N.C., poet who drove 10 hours to participate in the March Bards & Brews, shared her experience in a blog article written last month documenting her trek to visit open mic poetry events in all 50 states. Alabama was the 30th state in her journey that began in 2012.